As for many other graduates, KSE has changed my life completely. Even though from the beginning of my study I knew that I would not pursue career in science, I have put a great effort in getting as much as I could out of these two years. At the moment, I do not regret one night spent on studying.

From one side, the knowledge gained at KSE is highly applicable in business. My strong statistical background helps me to prove any hypothesis at work (I use a lot of it: from descriptive statistics to POLS modeling) in a much sophisticated than average way. This statistical proficiency level is highly appreciated by our leadership team.

From another side, I have learned how to constantly go out of your comfort zone, approach problems you have never faced before and be confident that you are bright enough to solve them. KSE uncovers people potential and empowers them to become winners in everything they do.

Big thanks to all the professors, who have given me the knowledge I have and to all of my classmates, who have constantly supported the desire to do more, than were required.
