

Ivan Yuryk (Advisor to Vice-President, International Affairs & Government relations, Alfa Bank Ukraine - former Advisor to the Ukraine's Minister of Finance, V. Pynzenyk, KSE (EERC)'2004)

I first heard about EERC from my neighbor. On his advice, I informed myself about EERC through the EERC website and by visiting the EERC open house. As I had studied mathematics before, I felt EERC provided an excellent chance for me to change the focus of my studies, so I decided to seize this opportunity. The decision to apply to EERC is one of the best steps in my life and I am proud of having studied at EERC.

The studies at EERC differed a lot from the education typically provided in Ukraine and made an unforgettable impression on me. EERC provides a modern learning process and gave me the ability to discover my own potential, which had been hidden before. Studying at EERC made a tremendous change in the way I perceive my own goals in life and the means I want to achieve them.

In addition, the strength of my EERC colleagues provided me with continuous challenge and provided a very competitive environment which gave me an edge during the start of my professional career. After graduation, I felt very competitive and skillful. I would even say EERC equipped us with much more skills and knowledge than the job market demanded at the time of our graduation.
