“I have entered KSE right after my graduation from the Belarus State University of Economics, and immediately realized how different it was from the economic education we all get at our universities. On top of well-structured and high-quality courses in Economics I had an opportunity to learn, the program helped me shape my broader understanding of world economic trends and showed innovative approaches applicable worldwide. It empowered me with the knowledge and tools that I currently use in my work at the World Bank group. In addition to first-class education, it was also a life-time experience and opportunity to make a lot of friends whom I will carry through my life.”
